

It's Baby Talk

AGES
0-3

Penny Tassoni, Education Consultant & Author

Thursday 4th March 2010

9.30am – 3.30pm

Developing language and literacy in children under three.

Promoting early language in babies and toddlers is vital to their later social cognitive development. This workshop looks at the process by which speech and language is learnt and the role of the adult's relationship within this. The session also looks at practical ways in which we can support language learning and early literacy.

It also considers the ways in which we might help babies and toddlers who are learning a home language alongside English.

By the end of the workshop participants will be able to :

- Understand the importance of early language in children's overall development;
- Gain practical strategies to develop early language and literacy;
- Understand how to support young children who are learning more than one language.

