Marie Richardson, Experiential Play

Wednesday 19th May 2010

9.30am – 3.30pm

“Religious and moral education is a process where children and young people engage in a search for meaning, value and purpose in life. This involves both the exploration of beliefs and values and the study of how such beliefs and values are expressed.”

Building the Curriculum 1

Aims

- To highlight and explore the outcomes and lines of development from the curriculum documentation;
- To consider play opportunities that will allow children to explore their own experiences, questions and priorities and those of people from a diversity of cultures and religions.

Delegates will explore a range of practical activities and ideas that will promote self esteem, celebrate respect for others and support the child’s developing self image.

They will reflect on the value of life and be encouraged to reflect on the vast variety of opinions and beliefs in an open, challenging way by exploring a range of beliefs and viewpoints.

There will also be a research workshop where delegates will have the opportunity to discuss a variety of cultures, customs and religions to develop their professional knowledge and understanding of global citizens.
